BRENDA T. BROWN,

Plaintiff,

CIVIL ACTION NO. 13-cv-14123

vs.

DISTRICT JUDGE STEPHEN J. MURPHY

COMMISSIONER OF SOCIAL SECURITY,

MAGISTRATE JUDGE MONA K. MAJZOUN

Defendant.

REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION

Plaintiff Brenda Brown seeks judicial review of Defendant the Commissioner of Social Security's determination that she is not entitled to social security benefits for her physical impairments under 42 U.S.C. § 405(g). (Docket no. 1.) Before the Court are Plaintiff's Motion for Summary Judgment (docket no. 9) and Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment (docket no. 11). The motions have been referred to the undersigned for a report and recommendation pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(B). (Docket no. 3.) The Court has reviewed the pleadings, dispenses with a hearing pursuant to Eastern district of Michigan Local Rule 7.1(f)(2), and issues this Report and Recommendation.

I. RECOMMENDATION:

The undersigned recommends that Plaintiff's Motion for Summary Judgment (docket no. 9) be DENIED and that Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment (docket no. 11) be GRANTED.

II. PROCEDURAL HISTORY:

Plaintiff filed an application for Disability Insurance Benefits and an application for Supplemental Security Income Benefits with protective filing dates of January 4, 2011, alleging that she had been disabled since November 2, 2010, due to fibromyalgia, arthritis, degenerative disc disease, obesity, and depression. (See Docket no. 9 at 5; TR 17, 19.) The Social Security Administration denied benefits, and Plaintiff requested a de novo hearing, which was held on April 9, 2012, before Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) Regina Sobrino, who subsequently found that Plaintiff was not entitled to benefits because she was capable of performing a significant number of jobs in the national economy. (TR 17-25.) The Appeals Council declined to review the ALJ's decision, and Plaintiff commenced this action for judicial review. The parties then filed their instant Motions.

III. PLAINTIFF'S TESTIMONY, MEDICAL EVIDENCE, AND VOCATIONAL EXPERT'S TESTIMONY

A. Plaintiff's Testimony and the Medical Evidence of Record

In her brief, Plaintiff sets forth a short procedural history of this matter and discusses the ALJ's basis for denying her benefits. (Docket no. 9 at 5.) Notably, Plaintiff's brief fails to contain a single reference to the medical record. (See docket no. 9.) Further, Plaintiff's discussion of her testimony is limited to the following:

The claimant testified at the hearing that sitting causes pain and that she has trouble sitting. (Tr. 35) In addition, when she does sit for too long, she has pain and has to stand up after 20 minutes. (Tr. 35) If she stands for too long, more than 15 minutes, she has to sit down to alleviate the pain. (Tr. 34) In between the frequent sitting and standing, she requires frequent walks and naps during the day. (Tr. 15) Because of this, she requires a sit/stand option – which was discussed in hypothetical number 3. (Tr. 43)

(Docket no. 9 at 9.) Defendant notes that “[t]he ALJ provided a full discussion of the relevant evidence in this case.” (Docket no. 11 at 6.) The undersigned has reviewed the hearing transcript and Plaintiff's medical record, but for the reasons discussed infra, it is unnecessary to summarize them herein. Therefore, Plaintiff's medical record and testimony as set forth in the ALJ's decision (TR 22-23) and Plaintiff's brief (Docket no. 9 at 9) are adopted; the undersigned will incorporate comments and citations as necessary throughout this Report and Recommendation.

C. Vocational Expert's Testimony

After asking the VE to discuss Plaintiff's past work experience, the ALJ asked the VE to consider a hypothetical individual with the same vocational profile as Plaintiff, except that the individual has the following limitations:

[The individual is] limited to performing sedentary work as that term is defined in the [SSR] and in the [DOT]; and in addition, the person should not need to climb stairs; can occasionally – pardon me, should not need to climb ladders; can occasionally climb stairs, balance, stoop, kneel, crouch, and crawl. The person should not be exposed to extremes of temperature or humidity. Assume a person who's limited to doing simple, routine work. It should not require interaction with the public, and it should involve no more than occasional contact with supervisors and coworkers.

(TR 42.) The VE testified that such a person could not perform Plaintiff's past work but could perform work as a packager, assembler, or inspector. (TR 42-43.)

The ALJ then asked the VE to assume that this individual was limited to "no more than frequent handling, fingering, and reaching." (TR 43.) The VE testified that such a limitation would not impact his answer. (TR 43.) In response to additional questioning from the ALJ, the VE further testified that the positions listed above also allow for a person to alternate between sitting and standing for up to five minutes every thirty minutes, do not require the individual to operate foot or leg controls, and do not require exposure to excessive vibration. (TR 43.)

Plaintiff's attorney then asked the VE to assume that the individual was required to be off task for 20% of the workday (in addition to standard breaks) due to a combination of side effects from pain medication and other symptoms. The VE testified that such a requirement would lead to termination. (TR 44.)

IV. ADMINISTRATIVE LAW JUDGE'S DETERMINATION

The ALJ found that Plaintiff met the insured status requirements of the Act through December 31, 2008, and that she had not engaged in substantial gainful activity since November 2, 2010. (TR 19.) The ALJ then found that Plaintiff suffered from the following severe impairments: "fibromyalgia, arthritis, degenerative disc disease, obesity, and depression." (TR 19.) The ALJ further found that Plaintiff's impairments did not meet or equal one of the listed impairments. (TR 20-21.) The ALJ then determined that Plaintiff had the following residual functional capacity:

[C]laimant has the residual functional capacity to perform sedentary work . . . with the following additional limitations: the opportunity to alternate position for up to 5 minutes approximately every 30 minutes; no climbing of ladders; occasional climbing of stairs, crouching, stooping, balancing, kneeling, and crawling; no exposure to hazards; no exposure to extremes of temperature or humidity; simple, routine work that does not involve interacting with the public, or more than occasional contact with co-workers and supervisors.

(TR 21-23.) Then, in reliance on the VE's testimony, the ALJ found that Plaintiff could not perform any of her past relevant work, but she could perform a significant number of jobs in the national economy; therefore, she was not disabled from November 2, 2010, through the date of the ALJ's decision. (TR 24-25.)

V. LAW AND ANALYSIS

A. Standard of Review

Pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 405(g), this Court has jurisdiction to review the Commissioner's final decisions. Judicial review of the Commissioner's decisions is limited to determining whether his findings are supported by substantial evidence and whether he employed the proper legal standards. See Richardson v. Perales, 402 U.S. 389, 401 (1971); Walters v. Comm'r, 127 F.3d 525, 528 (6th Cir. 1997). Substantial evidence is more than a scintilla but less than a preponderance; it is “such relevant evidence as a reasonable mind might accept as adequate to support a conclusion.” Richardson, 402 U.S. at 401 (quoting Consolidated Edison Co. v. NLRB, 305 U.S. 197, 229 (1938)); Walters, 127 F.3d at 528. It is not the function of this Court to try cases de novo, resolve conflicts in the evidence, or decide questions of credibility. See Brainard v. Sec’y of Health and Human Servs., 889 F.2d 679, 681 (6th Cir. 1989); Garner v. Heckler, 745 F.2d 383, 387 (6th Cir. 1984).

In determining the existence of substantial evidence, the court must examine the administrative record as a whole. See Kirk v. Sec’y of Health and Human Servs., 667 F.2d 524, 536 (6th Cir. 1981), cert. denied, 461 U.S. 957 (1983). If the Commissioner’s decision is supported by substantial evidence, it must be affirmed, even if the reviewing court would decide the matter differently, Kinsella v. Schweiker, 708 F.2d 1058, 1059 (6th Cir. 1983), and even if substantial evidence also supports the opposite conclusion. See Her v. Comm’r, 203 F.3d 388, 389-90 (6th Cir. 1999); Mullen v. Bowen, 800 F.2d 535, 545 (6th Cir. 1986) (en banc) (noting that the substantial evidence standard “presupposes that there is a zone of choice within which the decisionmakers can go either way, without interference by the courts”).

B. Framework for Social Security Determinations

Plaintiff’s Social Security disability determination was made in accordance with a five-step sequential analysis. In the first four steps, Plaintiff was required to show that:

- (1) Plaintiff was not presently engaged in substantial gainful employment; and
- (2) Plaintiff suffered from a severe impairment; and
- (3) the impairment met or was medically equal to a “listed impairment;” or
- (4) Plaintiff did not have the residual functional capacity (RFC) to perform relevant past work.

See 20 C.F.R. § 404.1520(a)-(f). If Plaintiff's impairments prevented Plaintiff from doing past work, the Commissioner, at step five, would consider Plaintiff's RFC, age, education, and past work experience to determine if Plaintiff could perform other work. If not, Plaintiff would be deemed disabled. See id. at § 404.1520(g). The Commissioner has the burden of proof only on "the fifth step, proving that there is work available in the economy that the claimant can perform." Her, 203 F.3d at 391. To meet this burden, the Commissioner must make a finding "supported by substantial evidence that [the claimant] has the vocational qualifications to perform specific jobs." Varley v. Sec'y of Health and Human Servs., 820 F.2d 777, 779 (6th Cir. 1987). This "substantial evidence" may be in the form of vocational expert testimony in response to a hypothetical question, "but only 'if the question accurately portrays [the claimant's] individual physical and mental impairments.'" Id. (citations omitted).

C. Analysis

The Social Security Act authorizes "two types of remand: (1) a post judgment remand in conjunction with a decision affirming, modifying, or reversing a decision of the [Commissioner] (a sentence-four remand); and (2) a pre-judgment remand for consideration of new and material evidence that for good cause was not previously presented to the [Commissioner] (a sentence-six remand)." Faucher v. Sec'y of Health and Human Servs., 17 F.3d 171, 174 (6th Cir. 1994) (citing 42 U.S.C. § 405(g)). Under a sentence-four remand, the Court has the authority to "enter upon the pleadings and transcript of the record, a judgment affirming, denying, or reversing the decision of the [Commissioner], with or without remanding the cause for a hearing. 42 U.S.C. § 405(g). Where there is insufficient support for the ALJ's findings, "the appropriate remedy is reversal and a sentence-four remand for further consideration." Morgan v. Astrue, 10-207, 2011 WL 2292305, at *8 (E.D.Ky. June 8, 2011) (citing Faucher, 17 F.3d at 174). Plaintiff argues that this matter should be reversed or remanded under sentence four because “the Commissioner erred as a matter of law in failing to properly evaluate the medical records and opinions of evidence, and thereby, formed an inaccurate hypothetical that did not accurately portray [Plaintiff’s] impairments.” (Docket no. 9 at 6.) In passing, Plaintiff also states that “the [ALJ’s] reasoning to support her lack of credibility is not substantiated.” (Id. at 10.)

To the extent Plaintiff argues that the ALJ erred in the formulation of the hypothetical questions presented to the VE, the ALJ is only required to incorporate in his hypothetical questions those limitations that he finds credible and supported by the record. See Casey v. Sec’y of Health and Human Servs., 987 F.2d 1230, 1235 (6th Cir. 1993). Here, the ALJ’s hypothetical questions presented all of the limitations included in Plaintiff’s RFC—that is, all of the limitations that the ALJ found credible. The VE testified that there are jobs available for a person with these limitations. Thus, the ALJ’s hypothetical questions were not improper, and in substance, Plaintiff’s motion asserts that the ALJ erred in determining Plaintiff’s RFC when he failed to properly evaluate the medical opinions.

Plaintiff’s argument fails as her entire discussion of this matter is limited to several pages of legal standards and a few vague references to her own testimony. (See docket no. 9.) Plaintiff does not discuss why she believes the ALJ erred, what medical records or opinions or evidence the ALJ failed to properly consider, or what additional impairments the ALJ allegedly failed to include in his hypothetical questions to the VE. As the Court addressed in a similar matter wherein Plaintiff’s counsel filed an almost identical brief, any additional analysis “is an exercise left to the reader; . . . Plaintiff’s summary judgment brief lack[s] any survey, much less meaningful discussion, of the medical record, and Plaintiff likewise fail[s] to provide any factual basis for h[er] challenge of the ALJ’s assessment of h[er] credibility.” Felder v. Comm’r of Soc. Sec., No. 13-10325, 2014

WL 1207865, *1 (E.D. Mich. Mar. 14, 2014) (Rosen, J.).

As Chief Judge Rosen noted in Fielder, this is not the first time the Court has denied a motion filed by Plaintiff's counsel for "reliance on conclusory assertions and absence of developed argument;" indeed, "nearly every Magistrate Judge in this District has expressed this concern with the work product of Plaintiff's counsel." Id. at *1 n.1 (collecting cases). Moreover, the Court warned Plaintiff's counsel that "this Court will carefully examine his submissions in future suits to ensure that they advance properly supported arguments that rest upon (and cite to) the facts of a particular case" and that failure to do so may result in either sanctions or referral for disciplinary proceedings. Id.

The undersigned has carefully examined Plaintiff's counsel's submission and finds it thoroughly deficient and devoid of proper factual substance and legal analysis. Plaintiff's counsel's superficial, cut-and-paste, template approach to fulfilling his professional duty to substantively brief the issues presented for this Court's most serious consideration and determination fails to comply with all accepted rules of civil pleading and practice in this District. The Court acknowledges that counsel may reduce costs and improve efficiency by using and inserting previously generated work product, such as any relevant applicable legal standards and specific rules. But Plaintiff's counsel's repeated failure to set forth factually specific, discernable, sound legal analyses in his briefing to this Court compels the waiver of any such arguments. See Kennedy v. Comm'r of Soc. Sec., 87 Fed.Appx. 464, 466 (E.D. Mich. 2003) ("[I]ssues which are 'adverted to in a perfunctory manner, unaccompanied by some effort at developed argumentation, are deemed waived.'" United States v. Elder, 90 F.3d 1110, 1118 (6th Cir.1996)). The "'court is under no obligation to scour the record for errors not identified by [the] claimant.'" Bush v. Astrue, No. 12-11790, 2013 WL 1747807, *14 (E.D. Mich. Jan 25, 2013) (Grand, M.J.) (quoting Martinez v. Comm'r of Soc. Sec., No. 09-13700

(E.D.Mich. Mar. 2, 2011)).

Therefore, Plaintiff's Motion should be denied. Any consideration of an award of sanctions against Plaintiff's counsel in this case would be inappropriate as the instant Motion was filed prior to Chief Judge Rosen's decision in Fielder.

V. CONCLUSION

For the reasons stated herein, Plaintiff's Motion for Summary Judgment (docket no. 9) should be DENIED, and Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment (docket no. 11) should be GRANTED.
